

Dear Sir or Madame,

The radio station K-LOVE has ushered me through many tough times. In life sometimes things happen that is unfair and unexpected. One will be lost as to what to do next. A part of them may desire revenge and the other part wants to do the right thing. While standing at the folk in the road, I turn my radio on K-LOVE. Soon soothing come across my pain and peace enter wear anxiety use to be. Godly thoughts fill my mind. Soon I am refresh, calm and having the confidence to carry on.

Everyone in this world go through seasons in their life (ups and downs). Everyone needs encouragement. Usually, there is not a person, counselor, or friend around or available to listen, understand and help. But K-LOVE is always there to whoever wants or needs that attention. This station has been helping people without extra rules and regulations. A community advisory board should not have the power to determine what I can or can not listen to, by making this station available or not (there is no need for extra staffing either). This board can be made of people who do not know Christ and feel that a Christian radio station is not important. This will be a tragedy for the Christians who live in those areas that need the encouragement; therefore I strongly disagree with all the rules and regulations.

Sincerely,

Valerie Jerro
